Touring "Street Theatre" to Brighten Princeton's Outdoor Scene

A troupe of strolling players — well, mobile players, anyway — will play to audiences all over Princeton this summer from the fold-out portable stage of an old house trailer.

With a little bit of luck, the trailer-stage will have its world premiere during Princeton's Art-People party on May 6. But even if it's not ready that soon, it will indeed be ready for a summer season.

"Street Theatre," which made its own debut only last summer, and the Princeton Recreational Department are the sponsors. Last year's Street Theatre presentations were all for kids. This year's will befor everybody.

Amie Brockway, director of Street Theatre, plans to monot four productions encompassing six plays: one major, full-length production which could be a musical; two one-act plays, a children's play and two original scripts still to be selected.

An alternate-week schedule will be blocked out, and casting for the first show will be the 19th and 20th of June, with opening night tentatively set for July 13.

The expanded Street Theatre program this year is possible because of a $2,000 matching grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Street Theatre applied for this grant, won it, and must now raise the additional $2,000 necessary to qualify for the matching award. Mrs. Brockway is already sounding out various organizations and individuals seeking financial support.

Incidentally, a condition of the arts council grant is that Street Theatre give an unspecified number of performances in urban areas, probably in Trenton.

Actors and crew for Street Theatre productions will be young theatre trainees, from seventh grade through high school.

"But there is no top age limit," Mrs. Brockway says, "We won't kick you out if you're as old as 20."

Right now, there are about 30 kids in the Street Theatre program and Mrs. Brockway hopes the number will expand in the summer, especially for shows that might need a big cast.

And there are the workshops — Street Theatre would like a lot of kids for those, too. Workshops will be offered in all areas of the theatre profession — stage design and construction, scene study, theatre "games," movement.

Young participants can be in one or more productions, or they can just be in the workshops. Everything will be on staggered scheduling to accommodate people who come and go on Summer vacations.

Waiting impatiently in the wings is Ted Woods, who wants to talk about the trailer stage. A graduate student in architecture at Princeton University (He already has a master's in design from Carnegie), he has designed a stage which folds its wings back into the trailer when it's time to move on to the next performance.

"The trailer is an old 1952 mobile home," he explains with enthusiasm. "It's still got a bed-frame, closets and a toilet. It has a wood frame with sheet-metal skin, like a boat. We're taking it apart, reusing the materials, and refurbishing it. We add the collapsible stage, a movie screen, accoustical reflector. Inside will be a control booth, storage and dressing rooms.

Mr. Woods has designed a stage with three-quarter round seating (see the sketch) to keep at a minimum the distance between actors and the back of the "house." Street Theatre, faced with a slim budget, has given first priority to a sound system rather than a complex lighting system, because hearing is vital in any outdoor theatre.

The trailer was discovered by Mr. Woods in Hammonton, on the lot of a mobile-home dealer named George Searle.

"He sold us the trailer for only $250," Mr. Woods says, "gave us new tires, electric brakes, jacks..."

Pared down to 20 teet in length in Mr. Woods' workshop, the eightfoot wide trailer will be pulled from place to place by trucks of the Recreation Department.

Meanwhile, students, led by sophomore Cindy Purvis and junior Sally Bomberger continue to charge that Dr. McPherson, Dr. Wertheimer and Dr. Wesley Johnson, associate superintendent, haven't satisfactorily replied to student questions on cut-backs in the language department. Two of the victims were from the high school, one from Brooklyn, police said. Later they appeared at police head-quarters with their parents. The latter said that it would be up to the boys whether they revealed the names of those who robbed them. Police add-ed that the victims knew their attackers but were reluctant to reveal their identity.

Much has been said of the acting, staging, sets and of the acting, staging, sets and chore-ography in past P. J. & B. presentations, but in a show such as "Sound of Music", the music is indeed the major force and the musicians have to be good. Since it has been customary in these productions to use two pianos in place of a more expensive orchestra, it must he noted that the gual ity of musicianship in the per-formances of Mr. Lyon and Mr. Wright were of the highest order. They played together as one, shaping every nuance of Rogers' beautiful score while always supporting the singer with just the correct amount of dynamic control.

'Woyzeck' Neither Mirrors nor Challenges Life

I am not very old, but I experience productions like Theatre Intime's current offering. Georg Buchner's "Woyzeck", with a certain weariness, an exhaustion which may stem from the simple fact that I am a man who is terribly bored by the machinations and manipulations of this race, mankind. It is tiring, so tiring, to see and think of oneself through art like this: soulless, heaten, myopic, powerless. I feel compelled to create an argument against the vision.

I feel the need to say something terse and foul in response, But that may be the point, I discover surprisingly; is abstract and altegorical, all the period of the perio sponse. But that may be the point, I discover surprisingly; I am responding like the manclown of this allegory, Woyzeck himself: unintellectual, impassioned over his own imbecility, unblessed flesh and blood, and, finally, the grotesque puppet who protests against his own discovery that there is no puppeteer. there is no puppeteer.

The world is out of our control; it is out of order; it is unnatural, or it is the opposite. We are pulling in a sewer, and the sun comes through the clouds "like God emptying his bedpan on the world."

Throughout this play we are the like that man is dung that he is the control of the play is that I think I have understood its shapping intelligible that man is dung that he Deborah R. Phillips, assoc iate director of the Princeton Center for Behavior Therapy will be the speaker. She will cover the work done in behavior therapy with children and will also talk about an-xictics and phobias and show how behavior therapy may be applied to the normal child.

DEADLINE APRIL 21

For Pre-Kindergarten Pro-gram. The Princeton Regional chools will continue to conduct a Pre-Kindergarten Prothrough the 1972 73

Since this program has a limited enrollment of 60 child-dren, priority for admissions is generally given to those who have not had previous nursey school experience and those who have special needs. The child must be four by November 30

Those who feel their child might benefit from this program may apply for admission by completing an application which may be obtained in any elementary school office or through the Office of Special Sorvices at the John Witherspoon School.

The deadline for the return of completed applications is Friday, April 21. Those needing assistance in completing the application may come to the John Witherspoon School on Friday, April 21, between 9 and 11 a.m. or between 1 and 3 p.m.

As requests for admission usually exceed the available openings, further screening will be necessary. Applicants will be informed of the proeedures. The purpose is to determine which children appear to be in most need of this Pre-Kindergarten experience.

1AP GETS $775

From Jaycees. The Institute for Applied Psychotherapy at 291 Witherspon Street has re-ceived from the Princeton Jay-cees a check for $775 to be used for a library-study room in the 291 building. John O'Leary of the Jaycees presented the check to Nancy Hartnett, direction of the IAP in Princeton, at an open house held Saturday.

REGULATIONS AND SCHEDULE FOR THE COLLECTION OF SOLID WASTE AND RECYCLABLE MATERIAL -EFFECTIVE APRIL 17, 1972.

The Borough does not have complete refuse collection. Garbage will be collected two times per week and recyclable items will be collected once per week. Only materials placed in water tight containers with a tight fitting cover will be collected.

GARBAGE WILL BE COLLECTED

EAST OF WITHERSPOON STREET - Monday and Thursdays with Thursday also being the collection day for non-burnable materials (plastic, metal, etc.).

WEST OF WITHERSPOON STREET — Tuesdays and Fridays with Friday also being the collection day for non-burnable materials (plastic, metal, etc.).

RECYCLABLE ITEMS WILL BE COLLECTED THROUGHOUT THE BOROUGH ON WEDNESDAY. MATER-IALS MUST BE SEPARATED AND PLACED FOR COLLECTION IN A WATERTIGHT GARBAGE CAN WITH A TIGHT FITTING COVER.

1st WEDNESDAY — NEWSPAPERS, securely fied in bundles or in waterlight confainers. (Do not include magazines, cardboard, etc.)

2nd WEDNESDAY - CLEAR GLASS - cleaned with metal rings and caps removed (Not necessary to remove paper labels).

3rd WEDNESDAY - GREEN GLASS - cleaned with metal rings and caps removed (Not necessary to remove paper labels).

4th WEDNESDAY - METAL CANS - Tin, tin plated, bi-metal and aluminum, cleaned with all paper labels removed (preferably flattened).

Materials not collected by the Borough may be taken by the property owner to the Landfill at River Road in Princeton Township, Monday thru Saturday, 8:00 A.M. to 3:30 P.M.

No collection of any kind will be made on New Years Day, Last Monday in May, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

All garbage and other materials shall be placed at the curb or along the edge of the pavement. Garbage collections start early in the morning and therefore, it is suggested that all containers be placed at the curb during the preceding evening.

Empty containers should be removed from the curb as soon as possible after collection. MATERIAL NOT PREPARED IN THE PROPER MANNER WILL BE REFUSED BY THE COLLECTOR.

The Borough has a clean-up week in the Spring and Fall of each year, when all materials of a size and weight that can be handled by one man will be collected. The dates of these clean-up weeks are published in the local newspaper. If there are any questions concerning this schedule or the regulations concerning the collection of garbage, tin cans and bottles, please call the Engineering Department office, 924-3495.

ABOUT COIN-OP DRY CLEANING at PRINCETON'S COIN WASH

259 Nassau Street

- Q. Are the cleaning fluids you use the same as the ones my professional dry eleaner uses?
- A. Yes, ours is the same solvent that 99% of the professional cleaners use.
- Q. How much do I save by using the coin cleaning?
- A. Up to 75% of your present costs.

Q. For instance?

- A. Here's the best comparison 6 to 12 sweaters form one 8-lb, load. The coin-op cost is $2.75. You could have 0 to 10 polyester dresses and pants in a single 3-lb, load, Costs are 2.75 To: 8 lbs.; $1.75 for 4 lbs.
  - Q. How do drapes come out?
  - A. Drapes are our specialty, and the savings are tremendous. We have equipment especially designed for handling large, bulky items.
  - Q. Do I have to do the dry cleaning myself?
  - The hardest think you have to do is pay for it Just weight it and the attendant takes care of the rest.
    - Q. How long does COIN-OP CLEANING take?
    - A. Same day service in fact, most times it's ready in the same hour.

At the University Museum. The Prints and Drawings Gallery is displaying a small but beautiful collection of Italian Drawings, Mainly of the 16th and 17th centuries, the drawings reflect the high level of skill demanded of the artist of that era, in a variety of drawing media.

The classical approach to anatomy and detail results in finely and sensitively wrought wash, ink, pencil, chalks and combinations of the aforementioned media. The subjects are mainly religious or classical figure stu dies. Also included are combinations of figure and landscape, as well as architec-ture that ably display the fine eye for line and form that marked this period,

The delicacy and sensitive ity to detail mastery of fine drawings techniques, sensitive tonal approaches and a flowing calligraphic develop-ment of line are among the outstanding features in this exquisite cullection of small

Varied Exhibit to Open Sunday at Studio-on-Canal

Ayako Firsing and Virginia Steinmetz are jointly spon-sored in an exhibition of their work at the Studio-onthe Canal beginning Sunday and to continue through April 30.

Mrs. Ayako Firsing, an Asian artist, will exhibit wa-ter colors and oils. She re-ceived her general education at Ochanomizu University in Japan and studied art with Ynaku Matsushita.

After coming to New Jersey, she began her studies with Rex Goreleigh and Hughie Lee-Smith at the Studio-on-the-Canal, and with Ted Spawn in Pennington. Mrs. Firsing's water colors and oils won prizes and patrons in area shows, including the Asian Art exhibit held at the Studio last July. Virginia Steinmetz, formerly of Lawrence Town-ship, now a resident of Camp Hill, Pa., will show oils, drawings and paintings on marble. She began her studies with Constance Bonotto and Rex Goreleigh in Princeton, and in New York with Issac Soyer, Sidney Dickinson and Richard Seyfart at the Art Students League. the Art Students League.

At the Drawing Room. Oils, water-colors and drawings from the 16th to the 20th century fill the Drawing Room. This diverse and unusual gathering of paintings and drawings represents a large segment of an anonymous private collection that is now available to the public for the first time.

Included in this are a range of drawings by the great and the near-great, a few large paintings and many different styles from many different eras. The col-lection is truly that of an ecclectic art lover who selected for his pleasure as op-posed to the more scholarly or pedantic concentration of one period or medium.

This yields a varied and visually stimulating grouping which is made even more interesting when it is con-of the tastes and preferences of one individual.

TAYLOR TURNS PRO

To Pick Nets or Supersonics. The 100-to-1 shot that Brian Taylor would follow a professional career in basketball, once his thinking turned in hat direction, last week became a reality.

His Princeton career at an end, he will now seek to play off the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association against the Seattle Sup-ersonics of the National Basketball Association. The former acquired his rights as far back as February, the latter chose him Monday in the NBA "hardship draft" and he will now make his decision based on his stated priorities: 1. lo cation; 2, money; 3, ability to play with the team he joins.

Bird over Bibby

Most basketball fans on the East Coast have heard of Henry Bibby, guard on UCLA's national champions, but how many West Coast fans know who Reg Bird is?

Around here, they will tell you that he's the substitute guard on Princeton's team who was picked in the NBA draft ahead of Bibby. When the Atlanta Hawks chose the Tiger senior, he was the 55th player selected; four picks later, Bibby was chosen,

Time and again last sea son, after Bird had come off the bench in a reserve capacity to help Princeton win, the opposing coach commented. "That's when they turned the game a-round." Gene Tormohlen, Atlanta's chief scout, likes Bird because "he makes the offensive player vary from what he wants to do "

Last Wednesday, Taylor called a press conference, pur-portedly to reveal his plans. Shortly thereafter, he revealed them in detail for publication next day in the Daily Prince-tonian, thereby making his 2 p.ni. session in Jadwin Gym Thursday with some twoscore newspaper and radio representatives a good deal of an an ticlimax.

He will be represented in his bonus and salary bargaining by Larry Fleischer, a New York lawyer who has apparently done the job to the satisfac-tion of Princeton's three alum-ni in the NBA — Bill Bradley, John Hummer and Geoff Patrie. It was Bradley who in troduced Taylor to Fleischer. and the latter is no doubt fully aware that his latest client thinks he can nail down about half a million dollars for his

New Charges Made. In the course of making his decision known. Taylor spoke further of his disenchantment with Princeton, in this instance over its financial arrangements with him, and over its admissions policy. He spoke with feeling on the fact that Armand Hill and Ron Haigier, a pair of standout Negro basketball players, were rejected by Princeton last spring.

Haigier went to Penn, Hill took a post-graduate year at Lawrenceville and Taylor de clared that no is the only black player recruited by Princeton to gain approval of the admissions office. A charge of "tok-enism" at his expense was added to his charges against policy here.

It is, incidentally, on Hill's decision whether to attend Princeton that the immediate future of basketball here largely hinges. Acceptances go in the mail Saturday, and Hill is reportedly on the list, but whether he comes here is a matter of wide conjecture.

It Taylor's departure for the pros downgraded sharply the future of Princeton (the Tige's would have been a good bet to win the 1973 Ivy title had he remained in college), it did result in status quo at the coaching level. Pete Carril, confirming the report that he had considered calling the past ference to leaving a sinking can be used as follows: ship.

Freshman coach Art Huland has, however, told the University that it must find a replacement for him. He will accept an administrative position in New York with the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

EXPERIENCE LACKING On PDS Baseball Team, A

10-man squad that loses seven members through graduation and one through transfer doesn't leave much behind on which to build. That, in a nutshell, is the problem facing the Princeton Day baseball team this season.

The poor spring weather hasn't helped much either, giv-ing the Panthers little time to prepare before their first game played this past Tuesday against Rutgers Prep. (See page 38.)

Last season's 9-4 mark was achieved with nine starters and just one reserve, but it was all the Panthers needed as they won their division in the Penn-Jersey League. Although they dropped out of the league in other sports, they are members for baseball and tennis, but winning their division again will be an uphill battle.

Of the returning players, two will be in the outfield, co-captain Kirk Moore in right, and centerfielder, Carl Rosen-berg, who batted .395 last year and won all-league honors Mark Ellsworth, last year's 10th man, will alternate at at first and on the mound.

Coach Alan Taback will also have Ron Webster and John Boyd sharing the pitching duties, but Boyd, who hurled for the Panther jayvees last year, is the only one of the three with much experience. John Claghorn and Peter McCandless carried the load

Dan Blum has the inside track for the third outfield position, with Jim Britt and Mike Stix behind him.

The infield will have either Webster or Ellsworth at first. Chip Place, a junior, and Dave Beckwith, a freshman, are at second; Duncan Martin, a transfer student, will be at shortstop, backed up by Gary Junior Mike Felder gets the nod at third with Doug Haitch, a sophomore behind him. Van Dusen is long on ability, but short on experience as catcher, but should grow into the job. He will be backed up by Mike Shillaber.

PHS entered the game with two strikes against it: it was shorthanded because some of its players were away on spring vacation and il was facing one of the strongest teams in the state. "They were throwing two and three midfields against us and we had the equivalent of about one and a half," commented Trotman. # Remarkable new invention in every 1972 Volkswagen.

We've all been through it.

The agony of an automotive check-up.

You sit nervously thumbing through ald magazines, praying that somehow you can get aut of there for less than $50.

Then, the moment of truth:

A Service Manager telling you that one of his best mechanics thinks you need a new generator.

Those days will be over soan if you awn a 1972

For instead of a mechanic telling you what he thinks is wrong with your car, now your car can tell you for sure. Sound amazing?

A car wired like a space capsule.

When Man went to the Moon, the success of each mission depended a great deal on a highly technical computerized system that told the Astronauts the exact condition of their space vehicle.

A similar system is now built into every 1972 Volkswagen.

The system in the car.

Running throughout the car is a network of sensors, each reporting the candition of various parts of the car.

Most of these sensor points are located in key areas like the engine or the electrical system, but many are found in seemingly insignificant places like the heated

The information from all areas is channeled to one central socket located in the rear engine compartment.

The socket is about the size of a pack of cigarettes. We mention the size only because af what happens next. And thot's what this amazing socket can da.

One-half of the system is already here. Built into every new Volkswagen.

The other half, the computer, is on its way, Imaaine.

A computer five feet away from your car is printing out in plain English just about everything that's right or wrong with that car.

When all 60 service checks have been made, the printout sheet is yours to keep.

What better proof to show that your automobile has finally had a thorough physical check-up?

A new way to look at a VW.

It started with economy, back in 1949, when it wasn't fashionable for an automobile to be economical.

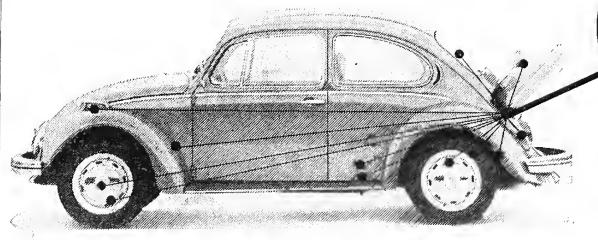

But since when has a VW been fashionable?

Obviously, the Volkswagen Beetle hasn't made it on

But then, that's always been the plan.

HANDIWORK IN SPACE From RCA Astro on Apollo 16. Petticoats and pajamas won't go to the moon aboard Apollo 16 when it is launched Sunday, but some of Mrs. Ann Nieroda's stitching will. She is a space-age seam-stress who designs, develops and finally sews the multi-layered plastic thermal insulation blankets that will be wrap-ped around much of the hard-ware on the spacecraft. In outer space, the temperatures tumble down much deeper or climb higher than those to which the astronauts are gen-erally accustomed.

Before she was even a teenger, Mrs. Nieroda learned from her mother how to make petticoats and pajamas. Now as a grandmother of four, she still sews as an avocation. As a widow — her husband was a New York City banker — she left her native Brooklyn, settled in Monarch settled in Monmouth Junction a few years ago and became a specialist in sewing mylar lastic thermal coverings.

The trick to this, she explains, is that, unlike sewing on cloth, the stitching cannot be removed from the mylar without page-really. without permanently damag-ing it; consequently, a mistake can be very costly.

Many Layers. She recently completed the thermal coverings — some of which have as many as 27 thicknesses — for the Ground Commanded Televisian Commanded (CCTA)

FARM HERE BOUGHT For Use as Riding Center. The purchase of Meadow Mouse Farm, Cherry Hill Road, Montgomery Township has been announced by its new owner, Miss Prudence Morgan, who plans to develop the property as the Princeton Riding Center, Working with Miss Morgan in the venture will by Major Dezso Szilagyi, who has been leasing the farm from the for-mer owners Dr. and Mrs. J. Mercer Rampona for the past 18 years.

In 1956, Miss Morgan start ed riding with Major Szilagyi who had been building Meadow Mouse Farm practically plank by plank himself. He often spoke to her of his dream of having a real riding center at the farm, with facilities to train both riders and horses to the highest levels of dressage, show jumping and cross country riding.

It is Miss Morgan's intention to make the farm into just such a center. New facilities will soon be built, including 30 stalls, a gallery, lounge, offices and apartments,

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Morgan, 161 Elm Road, Miss Morgan attended Morven Park International Equestrian Institute's instructors course for a year, after graduating from the University of Colorado in 1968. At the completion of her course, she was asked to stay on as an instructor, and she remain-ed there until just recently.

She took time off to ride with other instructors, among them Victor Hugo Vidal, many times winner of the American Horse Show Association Instructor of the Year Award and Gabor Foltenyi, highly successful show jumping hunter trainer and competitor and Jack Le-Goff, U.S. Olympic coach, When she left Morvan Park, she was awarded an Instruc-tor's Certificate with High Distinction, the only one ever presented there.

From brochure of 1970 Open House in Princeton, "A History of Architecture."

Double living room with twin liveplace. Dutch oven and doors, rare mantels, original window glass, brick floors-it's all there for "carly Americaniaus"; For those who are also practical people, the essentials and extras that make for comfort are there: closets and storage galore, bookcases, pautry, laundry-freezer room, fire alarm system, etc. Moving outside, the trees are lovely, especially two huge maples adorning the terrace which must be as old as the house,

A VIEW FROM THE BALCONY

AND from the center hall, living room, dining room, den, family room and three of the five bedrooms! The "back yard" of this handsome white brick house is a secluded section of Marquand Park, providing the pleasure of beautiful specimen trees and green spaces without the pain of outlay and upkeep. In addition to that rare combination, the house itself has just about everything a comfortable and attractive hoine should have.

The living and dining rooms, both with fireplaces, are most gracious; the den, with fireplace, is cozy and private; the kitchen, pleasant and efficient; the bedrooms, especially the master suite with fireplace, good-sized, light and appealing. Outstanding among many outstanding features is the large panelled family room with its window seat storage, bookshelves, bar and stunning raised brick hearth fireplace topped by a huge copper hood. Closets, particularly a mud roomback hall full, are numerous; so are the bathrooms-412; and have you counted the fireplaces? (We haven't even mentioned the variety of attractive mantels.) The large formal terrace also overlooks the gorgeous greenery of the Park, and the planting around the house rivals it. A brand new, well-priced listing at $110,000
